General Questions

How should I dress?

It is our desire to be a godly testimony in both our behavior and our dress. Clothing should not advertise a worldly lifestyle.

Guys can wear nice jeans or casual pants and a t-shirt for the Thursday morning sessions and afternoon activity. (Make sure logos and/or writing on shirts, hats, etc. are appropriate.) Nice casual pants and collared shirts should be worn for evening services and on Friday.

Girls can wear modest, knee-length skirts, basketball shorts, or culottes, and a loose-fitting top for the Thursday morning sessions and afternoon activity. (No low-cut, immodest, or tight-fitting clothing.) Knee-length skirts or dresses should be worn for evening services and on Friday.

What should I bring?

Bring clothing for three days of exciting activities and preaching services, your Bible, a pen, bath articles, some spending money, a soft heart, and a good attitude.

Can my group stay in the dorms?

While we love to host guests, we have limited capacity in our on-campus housing. We also have hundreds of college students who live in these rooms. We're glad that several local hotels have agreed to offer you special discounts. Click here (<https://wcbc.edu/experience/area-services>) for more information.

Can I get the early bird discount for my group if I register one person from my church?

The Early Bird Discount is available to those who complete their registration early. All you need to do to receive this special offer is register (including payment) before March 1. The discount applies to individuals and not entire groups, so register and pay for as many delegates as possible before the deadline hits.

How does WCBC assign seats?

All seats will be assigned by group based on the priority of the when the first person registered. All you have to do is fully register (including payment) a single person to lock in your entire group's priority for seating. Two days before the conference, we will assign one seat to every registered (including payment) delegate from your church. We cannot guarantee that anyone who registers fewer than forty-eight hours before the conference will be able to sit with their church.

One of our young people is a current WCBC student. Can they sit with us?

We're delighted when our students from your church are able to chaperone and serve your group. However, because of our limited capacity, WCBC students may only be assigned seats with your group if 1) they are a sibling of someone who is attending, 2) they are a member of your church, or 3) they are acting as a registered sponsor for your group.
